out his consent and that he repudiated the present action. Then followed Swart's own affidavit in which he said Hightower had repudiated the services of Attorney E. J. Simmons of Bakersfield and had repeatedly told him that he did not want to be taken to San Francisco for this proceeding and was satisfied with his own present lawyer, Albert Mansfield.

The court consulted for a moment, and when it had concluded, Swart announced: "Hightower now says that he would like to have Herron represent him."

Judge Waste then announced the court's opinion.

"Up to yesterday," he declared, "the state was amply to convince this court that the writ ought to be dismissed and the prisoner demanded, but when Herron was refused permission to see Hightower on the latter's motion, the court changed matters. Now that Hightower has agreed that Herron shall be allowed to consult with him, there is nothing more to be said. Any writ issued in any way deprived of its rights."

"Seventy-five percent of all matrimonial disasters are participated in by her interferences," he asserted. "She is an out-law instead of an in-law."

Watchmen Held As Suspects in $250,000 Theft

Loot Estimated At Quarter Million Taken From Deposit Vaults of Bank.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Five men—two watchmen and three others—whose identities the police are concealing—are held today in connection with the robbery of the security deposit vaults in the Masonic Temple. Loot obtained by four men who participated in the robbery is estimated as high as $250,000.

Edward Weber and Milton Jones are the guards who were arrested. Detectives Hughes declared they have told contradictory stories.

According to the present police version of the affair, the four men approached Weber, the outer guard at the vault, and one of them asked to rent a safe deposit vault.

Weber accepted payment for the vault and gave the men a card admitting them. Inside the vault, the men said to have drawn guns, bound and gagged Jones, and proceeded to break open nineteen boxes with hammers and chisels.

Several of the boxes in the vaults are said to be used by gamblers to store their winnings, and it is believed that the robbers knew this and sought to loot the boxes rented by the sportsmen.

Although several of the boxes opened contained Liberty bonds and other securities, only cash was taken.

Hagerly, after being convinced that the case was "one of love at first sight," granted a waiver of the five day marriage law. The next trip was to the Methodist parsonage, where Rev. Edward E. Wells made the couple man and wife. The auto ride which started as a joy ride was finished as a honeymoon.

BRITISH SHOOT 700 INDIA REBELS IN TANUR DRIVE

Many Europeans in Disorder District Killed; Many Hindus Massacred.

CALCUTTA, India, August 29 (By the Associated Press).—Nearly 700 members of the insurgent bands which have been creating disorders in the district south and southeast of this city, have been killed in fights with British forces sent to quell the uprising. Several Europeans have been killed, while 70 men of the Leinster regiment and 17 native policemen have been massacred. Many Hindus have been massacred.

Indian troops are being brought southward from Cannanore. It is reported that the insurgents have been ordered to obstruct troop movements.

Bluejackets and marines from the warship Comus have been landed here.

British troops including cavalry, arrived here from Bangalore Sunday and proceeded to the disturbed area. Numerous refugees who have arrived here from the Grand district relate pitiful tales of torture and looting. It appears the rebels have deserted Tanur and other places and have taken to the hills.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Rebels in the Calcutta district have increased to 15,000 and the area of the rebellion has been extended, says a despatch to the Daily Mail from Allahabad.

A Bombay despatch to the Exchange Telegraph says all of the forces surrounding the Nalambur palace have been laid waste and every Hindu house looted. A rebel leader has established himself in the palace as ruler.

The India office reports that the disturbed area of Malabar is threatened with famine. Martial law has been applied to six districts.

UPRISING LAID TO RELIGIOUS FANATICS

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Reports today from the revolutionary area of Malabar, British India, indicating that British troops have today been ordered to move there, tended to confirm the belief in London that the uprising would be confined to this area, although none here would deny the seriousness of the situation or its potentialities for spreading.

The trouble in Malabar arises, it is stated, primarily from religious fanaticism and from the intense hatred of the Moplahs, or Mahomedans of Arab descent, for Europeans and Hindus.

Of politics and home rule they know nothing, as they virtually are barbarians; but the religious torch will always stir them to bloodshed, as they live mainly for their religion and are willing to die for it. Self-torture is not uncommon among the Moplahs, in the hope that they will thus arrive in Heaven, and they believe that in the battlefield is the sure road to a happy hereafter.

The situation for isolated Europeans and Hindus in the Malabar region is grave, as the Moplahs in the past have halted at nothing in their frenzied hatred. At the time of the projected uprising in Punjab the outbreak of the war some of the most cold-blooded documents were issued telling how Europeans were to be exterminated to the last person.

Woman Friend Of Pastor Held In Murder Case

Mrs. E. D. Barber Arrested As Accessory To Alleged Slaying Of Wife.

LAKEPORT, Aug. 29.—Mrs. E. D. Barber, charged with being an accessory to the alleged murder of Mrs. Emma Teresa Spencer, was brought to Lake county late today by Sheriff B. F. Shaul and lodged in jail. She was arrested in San Jose last night on a warrant issued by District Attorney H. B. Churchill of Lake county.

Mrs. Barber, who formerly used the name of Mrs. E. D. Duncks, so-called "mystery woman" in the case, and who has been living with Spencer according to authorities, was taken into custody by Sheriff Shaul and Deputy Sheriff F. Raymond of San Jose and placed in the Santa Clara county jail. She is charged with conspiring to kill Mrs. Spencer.

Mrs. P. H. Palmer of Santa Rosa, who was one of the first persons to suspect that there might have been some sinister motive behind the alleged drowning of Mrs. Spencer in Clear Lake on the night of July 27, charged that Spencer aroused his wife's jealousy by his attentions to Mrs. Barber. Spencer's cross followed a second autopsy examination over the body of Mrs. Spencer after it had been exhumed. The findings of the post-mortem physician have been kept secret, but authorities declared there was enough evidence to warrant Spencer's arrest. Later, after the ex-preacher was taken into custody, District Attorney Churchill declared that he had gathered sufficient evidence to convict him.

Spencer was arrested at San Jose on August 21 when he went to the county jail. At the time of his arrest, Mrs. Barber was waiting for him outside in an automobile.

After his arrest, Spencer said the post-mortem might have revealed traces of poison in his wife's body, as she had been ill and was taking a tonic containing strychnine and other drugs.

Hotchkiss, president of the producers' association, into court in an attempt to prove his assertion.

Silverstein asked Burch if the Eastbay Milk Producers' association has not appropriated $65,000, contributed by Ben Silverstein and men, for the purchase of a cooperative creamery. Silverstein's question was ruled out by Superior Judge H. D. Gregory, sitting in the case.

COMPERS URGES LABOR MAN FOR ARMS PARLEY

"Practical Suggestion," Reply Of President Harding To Appeal.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 29.—(By Associated Press).—President Harding last night made public his appeal to the labor movement of the nations which will participate in the disarmament conference to be held in Geneva. The president also was pledged to accompany the correspondence.

"The proposal to discuss means of lightening the tremendous burden of armaments," he said, in a statement accompanying the correspondence, "is one which interests the working people above others. From them came the first protests against enormous armaments."

"The hope is repeated that the conference may be attended by the highest possible degree of success. The labor movement in the United States will make every endeavor to be helpful to the cause of disarmament, but only through the opportunity to exercise a voice within the conference can it make its contribution to the volume of counsel and cooperation."

APPEAL TO HARDING

He also made public correspondence in which he urged President Harding to appoint one or more representatives of labor on the American commission. Support of the federation also was pledged to President in his disarmament move.

President Harding in reply thanked Compers for the support and said that he would give consideration to the request, which he characterized as a "very practical suggestion."

In his appeal to the labor movement of Italy, Great Britain, France and Japan, President Harding said they should be represented in the conference.

"It is urged that the bona fide labor movements of all nations should participate in the disarmament conference in order to have representation in the various delegations," he continued.

CONFERENCE OF LABOR

"If labor be represented, it is my purpose to suggest that a conference of labor delegates be held to discuss not only the subject for which they come to Washington, but also questions of international importance in the field of labor."

"History clearly reveals that no group of people in any land is required to bear greater burdens or to suffer greater injustices and in the aftermath of war than the workers."

"From the first the American Federation of Labor has taken a leading part in bringing to the attention of the world the need of the disarmament of the workers from the terrible burdens and dangers created by great naval and military establishments."

NUMEROUS BY WORKERS

"Numerous declarations on the subject have been made by the American Federation of Labor and transmitted to the organized labor movement of the world. These declarations were reaffirmed in Denver in June when the federation called upon the President of the United States to take the initiative in a general disarmament agreement. The President has issued the invitation."

"The American Federation of Labor believes that this movement will be welcomed by workers everywhere, but should not be the province of the wage-earners merely to observe. They have the right to be participants in determining a question that so deeply affects their lives, their rights and their interests."

BRITONS OPPOSE STEEL SCHEDULE OF TARIFF BILL

American "Trade Barriers"
Are Assumed International Importance.

By J. BART CAMPBELL,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The appearance of a deputation of the English business men before the Senate Finance committee Wednesday to oppose some of the steel schedules of the pending tariff bill is expected by senators today to further emphasize the international aspects of the proposed creation of American trade barriers.

Senators closely associated with President Harding are of the opinion that the tariff question is one that may be moulded finally by the trend of the approaching Washington conference on disarmament and kindred subjects, however unrelated the tariff now may appear to be to the announced purposes of the conference.

These senators have known for some time that the administration intended that the tariff bill and the foreign debt funding bill should not be enacted finally by Congress until the outcome of the Washington conference could be determined.

The liquidation of the $1,000,000,000 foreign indebtedness to the United States and the construction of a tariff wall against foreign products are moot questions which are likely to be projected into the melting pot of international relations once the conference gets under way, these senators believe. They are confident that Congress will not be hurried upon to act finally upon either question until the result of the gathering is foreseen.

The admission of an English deputation to a hearing of the Senate Finance committee on the tariff is described by the state department as "unofficial" and to have no connection with the British government itself except that the British ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, personally arranged it.

S. F. MAN OF 75, AND NO INCOME, ENJOYING LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—William Park, seventy-five years old, has found the secret not only of how to be happy and to live well on no income whatsoever, but he even knows how to feed others out of the same miraculous secret.

Park lives in a little shack at Sixteenth and Polson streets, with a few good books as his only companions. And this is the way in which he gathers nourishment for the body. He rises at six and takes a morning constitutional through the wholesale district, gathering fruit and vegetables that are "not wanted," as he goes along.

One day it may be apples and potatoes, slightly off-color but eatable; the other day string beans or so. As Park says, a very healthy diet. In this way he gathers sufficient, not only for himself, but also for his friends, and he has supported a poor ailing neighbor for several months in good style.

Park does not like movies, but has heard all the best operas. He has put away some money for his funeral and for the Salvation Army and is happy, for he has solved the secret of life—which is contentment.

MAHOGANY BARS ARE IN DEMAND BY FILM MAKERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—"What's become of the old-fashioned bar with a mahogany top and a mirror behind it?" is the question moving picture producers are asking. They are finding them as extinct as the dodo bird, according to Adolph Cohen, "property man" from a Los Angeles studio. He came all the way to San Francisco to find one after he couldn't get any in southern California.

"I got a bar here after a hard search, and believe me, we'll guard it," he said today. "Those things are getting mighty valuable."

COUNTIES SCORE POWER SITE GRAB BY LOS ANGELES

Two States Add Complaint To
That of Mono Officials
Against City.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—In furtherance of its program for the aggrandizement of a commercial supremacy in California, the city of Los Angeles has gone beyond its corporate limits into foreign territory, acquired and is holding natural resources exclusively for the benefit of the southern metropolis, in disregard of the rights of other communities, is the plaint now echoing from Mono county.

The wall does not alone emanate from the distant mountainous regions of the high Sierras. The states of Nevada and Arizona have joined with the populace of Mono, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties to oppose the city of Los Angeles to grab hydro power rights.

In opposing the Los Angeles movement the Riverside Chamber of Commerce has sent 2,000 letters through California some 16,000 letters, requesting co-operation and unified action to thwart the aims of the southern city, which "already has secured the right to grab power of the state offices." It is said that an undercurrent of opposition will find vent at the special session of the legislature, to be called this fall by Governor William D. Stephens, for disposition of congressional and state reappropriation.

TAXES REFUSED.
Mono county authorities are the first to bring light evidence showing Los Angeles the role of a land grabber. James Borland, serving his fourth term as assessor of Mono county, declares that the city of Los Angeles has acquired 9,000 acres of agricultural land in this county, upon which the city has made no tax return to the county. In fact he says the city officials stand in utter defiance of the county's attempt to collect the proper income assessed against the class of land Los Angeles holds.

Only upon 350 acres did the city make a return. Borland estimates this acreage being separate and comprising a part of a power project more recently acquired through court sanction of condemnation proceedings. The Mono county assessor, however, is insistent that Los Angeles shall pay the amount levied upon their agricultural land holdings, even if he has to resort to selling the same at public auction for non-payment of taxes.

In its debt to Mono county, Borland states, Los Angeles is seeking refuge behind a state constitutional provision, that exempts from taxation property held under municipal ownership, which was not taxable at the time of acquisition. The assessor claims that this land grant forms an integral part in Los Angeles' super hydro power project, gray forms an integral part in Los Angeles' super hydro power project, gray forms an integral part in Los Angeles' super hydro power project.

SUPPORTED BY JUROR.
Supporting Borland in his assertion that irreparable damage has been done Mono and other counties through the unusual activity of the city of public utility of Los Angeles, is Walter D. McPherson, member of the Mono county grand jury, which recently delved into the records of filings on water rights on creeks flowing into Mono lake. Resenting the Mono county grand jury officials, McPherson recently appeared in Governor Stephens' office and charged that fraudulent methods had been employed in filing upon creek waters in Mono county, the result of which had enabled the city of Los Angeles to obtain valuable rights.

Borland declares that at the time of making application to the federal government for usage of Mono county waters, those representing the city of Los Angeles stated the water was to be used for irrigation purposes, yet at the same time the power people had prospectuses in print and distributing the same, showing representations of power plants upon the same waters, Mono lake, which did not exist, and thus, despite the fact that Los Angeles authorities declared that it meant bankruptcy, to attempt development by hydroelectric power projects in that section.

SCENIC BEAUTY HURT.

Through the diversion of waters from their natural stream course, the scenic beauty of Mono county is threatened agricultural development in his county as well as complete destruction of the scenic beauty over the famous Tioga pass. Over this highway the grandeur of mountain fastness is beautified by the waterfalls of Lavinia creek, where the sparkling waters from the high Sierra springs unite in volume and drop in a foaming mass over a precipice to the stream bed hundreds of feet below.

Construction crews are now digging a 2,200 foot tunnel through the mountain, designed to take the Lavinia creek waters above the falls, dropping the flow through a large pipe to a point below the scenic falls, thereby destroying one of nature's beauties. California to which thousands of tourists travel from afar to gaze upon.

MRS. OBENCHAIN AND BURCH ENTER NOT GUILTY PLEA

Fair Denies Murder of Kennedy, Broker, On Appearing in L. A. Court.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—Pleas of "not guilty" were entered in the superior court here today by Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain and Arthur T. Burch, jointly indicted by the Los Angeles county grand jury on charges of having murdered J. Bennett Kennedy, broker, in Beverly Hills, near here, August 5.

Their trial was set for November 1, before Judge Sidney N. Leeve, who ordered hearings within ten days on motions for separate trials filed by the defense.

This was the third time Mrs. Obenchain and Burch had appeared in court to make their pleas, two postponements having been granted because of the absence of their chief counsel, Mrs. Obenchain, who recently collapsed in her cell in the county jail was supported by two deputy sheriffs when she was called upon to stand and plead to the charge.

She spoke the words "not guilty" in a tone barely above a whisper. Burch entered his plea in a clear, ringing voice.

Mrs. Obenchain was taken into court through a covered passage between the jail and the hall of justice, so she might avoid the gaze of many hundreds who had gathered about the two buildings in the belief she would pass through the street. Her mother, Mrs. M. Smart; her half sister, Miss Gladys Smart; and Ralph E. Obenchain of Evansville, Ill., her former husband, and new one of her attorneys, were waiting in the courtroom when she arrived.

The Opinion of a Business Man on the Subject of Washday

The sales manager of a middle-western concern with a world-wide business had just been introduced to the wife of one of his salesmen. Quite naturally the conversation turned to the shortage of laundresses and ways and means of meeting it.

"I'm doing our washing myself," said Mrs. B.—"But don't you think it might be much more economical to send your washing to the laundry?" asked the sales manager.

"I'm looking at the matter from the viewpoint of the business man. Wouldn't it be wiser to give more of your time to home management, to shopping in person, for instance, instead of by telephone, to thinking up things that will make home more pleasant for your husband and family?"

Mrs. B.—I agreed that it might be. She tried it. And it worked. It saved time—and it saved money. Have you ever thought of your washday problem in this light? We can assist you to an equally happy solution with our Family Laundry Service.

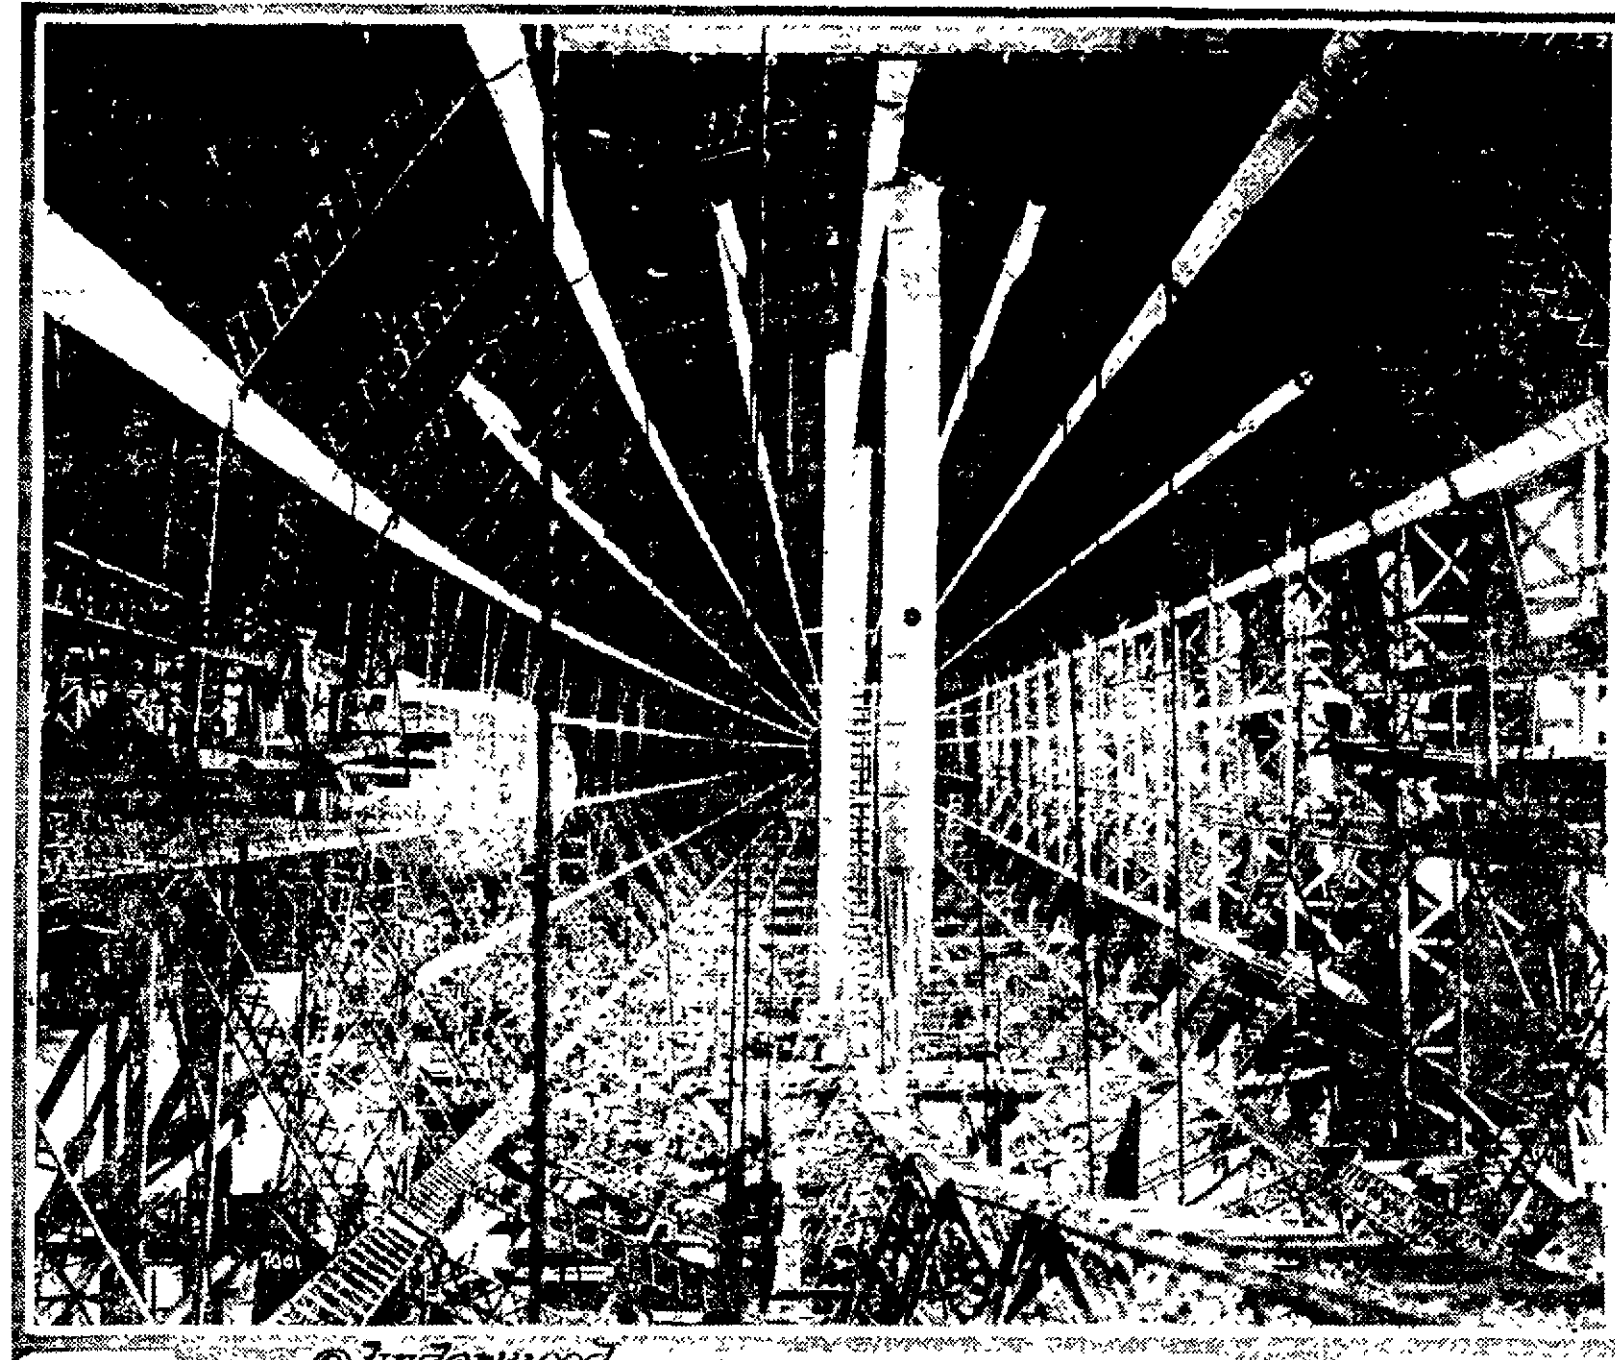

Our route representative calls for your family bundle. We wash everything in pure, soft water—then iron beautifully in our own manner and return your things promptly on a definite day at a definite time each week.

Faulty Construction Claimed for ZR-2

Here is the interior of ZR-2, America's great dirigible which crashed over Hull and sent two score American and British airmen to death. German builders claim that faulty construction was responsible and that this style of steel framework was abandoned by them long ago.

EASTBAY FACTORY SHOW OPENS OCT. 1

For the first annual East Bay Manufacturers' Exhibition, to be held at Idora Park, October 1 to 9, more than one-half of the exhibitor's space has already been sold and a great many Eastbay manufacturers have made tentative reservations. The Coast Tire and Rubber Co., the local tire manufacturing company, is to install the equipment and actually construct tires at the fair. George Dow, president of the Dow Pump Works of Alameda, and a member of the executive committee of the Associated Manufacturers of the East Bay Cities, the body which is handling the forthcoming industrial show at Idora Park, has announced that his company is also planning on displaying a large and attractive exhibit.

J. W. Phillips, chairman of the New Industries Committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, has announced that that body has passed resolutions lauding the organization which is promoting the local industrial show and pledging every support. Phillips is also a member of the executive committee of the Associated Manufacturers of the East Bay Cities.

Two Girders of ZR-2 Were Broken Before Fatal Dash

LONDON, Aug. 29.—New light was shed upon the ZR-2 disaster today when it was revealed that the two main girders had been damaged in a trial flight before the fatal voyage.

The Daily Express today printed an interview given out by Air Marshal Maitland of the Royal Flying Corps, August 13, which had never been published.

Air Marshal Maitland (who lost his life on the ZR-2) admitted that troubles had occurred during the trial flight, adding: "The cause was an uneven pull upon the ship by the central motors. The engines did not synchronize."

JOINT SERVICE PLANNED.
LONDON, Aug. 29.—American and British aviation authorities conferred today on the question of holding joint funeral services for the victims of the ZR-2 disaster before the bodies of the Americans are shipped to the United States. It was believed certain that such joint services would be decided upon.

BODIES RECOVERED.
LONDON, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press).—The bodies of Lieutenant-Commander Emory Coll, U. S. N., and Ed Pettitt, a rigger, killed in the fall of the dirigible ZR-2 at Hull, were recovered yesterday during salvage operations on the airship. The air ministry announced last night. The former's home was Marietta, O. The air ministry reports a considerable portion of the airship was salvaged. A parachute was found attached to Lieutenant-Commander Coll's body.

WILL RETURN BODIES.
HULL, England, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Bodies of the American naval men, victims of the destruction of the ZR-2, will be sent home on the British cruiser Dauntless. They will be escorted by American air force officers.

Salvage operations on the wrecked ZR-2 were continued today. No more bodies were found up to yesterday, but the pile of recovered wreckage on the quay at Humber increased continually while crowds on the waterfront still kept vigil near the scene of last week's dirigible disaster.

An inquest will be held this afternoon over the recently recovered bodies. The official government inquiry at Howden was continued today behind closed doors.

Confidence in your Milk

It must be absolute. The integrity of your milk dealer must be beyond question. Source of supply, treatment, handling, distribution—each and all must spell SAFETY.

The effect of a single distribution of impure milk? Too awful to contemplate.

Therefore, the expert inspection at every stage, the necessity of scientific, modern machinery.

"Safety first, last and all the time" must be the guarantee of your milk dealer, no matter what it may cost him.

This always has been, is and always shall be our system.

FARMER TO HAVE VOICE IN RATES

The farmer is to have representation before the State Railroad Commission at every hearing which might affect his interests.

To remedy what the legislative investigating committee a few months ago declared to be the greatest evil of the railroad commission's system of hearing the Farm Bureau Federation has organized a utilities and legal department, with Judge Frank S. Burton at the head.

Heretofore, it has been argued, when any matter involving rates or service has been brought before the commission, the back-country man has had very little opportunity to have his side of the argument expressed to the commission. The corporations affected have been represented by attorneys who are experts in matters of the kind and the farmer has held that he has been at a disadvantage.

The new department of the Farm Bureau Federation will act as a clearing house of information in regard to utilities, their practices and charges, and of legal information. It will study utility reports and decisions of the courts, existing and proposed legislation, and render reports at frequent intervals. It has already appeared for the farmers in a number of cases, notably the San Joaquin Light and Power emergency rate case, which resulted in a reduction of rates for the Kern county farmers.

The bureau will be supported by the farmers.

Chinese Province

PEKING, Aug. 25.—(By Associated Press).—The inhabitants of the Province of Hunan have repudiated the appointment of General Wu Pei-fu as inspector-general of the province, and have elected to succeed Wang Chan-yuen, the military governor of Hupeh, whose resignation was accepted on August 8. General Wu Pei-fu is reported to have ordered his northern troops to advance on Yo-chow.

Assistants To State Engineer Appointed
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 28.—Announcement was made yesterday at the offices of Governor W. D. Stephens of the appointment of W. P. Boone of Dinuba, Tulare county, and D. Joseph Coyne of Los Angeles as executive directors with State Engineer W. F. McClure to carry out the provisions of the California water-storage act, docketed at the legislature. Both men are prominent in water storage and irrigation work.

The water-storage act is a substitute for the irrigation act, docketed at the legislature. Both men are prominent in water storage and irrigation work.

The governor also announced the appointment of Rev. Zachariah J. Maher of Santa Clara college as a member of the California redwoods commission, to succeed Rev. T. L. Murphy of Santa Clara, who has resigned after many years of service.

Rich New Yorker Dies
After Fight At Dance
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The welcome ballroom attention of Salvador Laborde, a young Chilean student at Cornell university, to Mrs. J. S. Sutphen Jr., the wife of one of the heirs to the Sutphen estate, led to the death yesterday of Cecil Arthur, 34, wealthy young society man of New York.

Laborde is held in the jail at Freehold, N. J., without bail, for having caused Arthur's death. Two of his friends and the head waiter at the fashionable Allenhurst summer colony, popularized exclusively by the multimillionaire set, are being held under bonds as witnesses.

The trouble arose at a masquerade ball. Arthur was dancing with Mrs. Sutphen when the Chilean insisted Mrs. Sutphen dance with him.

Later he encountered Arthur in the grillroom. Laborde, without warning, struck Arthur and he fell to the cement floor, fracturing his skull.

CITY OF AIDEN MONUMENT TO TURKS' CRUELTY

Women, Children and Priests, Victims of Massacre, Still Unburied.

AIDEN, Asia Minor, Aug. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—One of the saddest and most tragic of all war memorials in the Near East is the ruined city of Aiden, sixty miles southeast of Smyrna, in the great growing district of Asia Minor. It is literally a vast sepulchre of the dead. Hundreds of innocent Greek and Armenian women, children and priests lie in nameless graves—victims of massacre by the Turks in 1919. The broken columns of a thousand shattered homes are the mute witnesses of the martyrdom of the population. Although two years have passed since they were sacrificed, no tombstone, no cross, no wreath marks the places where they fell. Many of the victims were burned to death. Their whitening bones form a ghastly and revolting sight. The crumbling masonry and earth—the silence of the place is oppressive.

In the little Church of the Metropolitan there is still to be seen on the floor gray fragments of the unfortunate priests who were killed and incinerated before the altar.

A few among the more hopeful and courageous of the population have returned to see the desolated city and are living in the ruins of their former homes. Through the dark and debris-strewn alleys sombre women and girls in mourning move like spectres. Their faces tell a story of poignant suffering and anguish. Some of them have lost their reason.

A group of Greek government officials from Athens recently visited Aiden.

Forgers in Sing Sing Continue Operations

OSSENING, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Convicts who dealt in spurious checks before becoming inmates of Sing Sing prison have continued to plait their trade in prison. It was learned today, when it developed that check totaling $14,000 had been forged by prisoners assigned to office duty. Three men have been placed in solitary confinement and an investigation begun.

Blank checks torn from the book of the prison check books were said to have been used. All forgery were effected within the past eight weeks and seven or eight of the forged checks were said to have been returned to the prison, paid and canceled. It was intimated that those cashing the checks would be compelled to stand the loss.

Brumfield is accused of the murder of Dennis Russell, laborer, the night of July 13.

WATER SITUATION IS DISCUSSED AT CITY HALL MEET

Surcharge, Rates and Proposed Increase in Company's Capital Debated.

The whole Eastbay water situation was taken up this afternoon in City Attorney Leon Gray's office, at a conference of city attorneys and officials of the Eastbay Water Company.

Discussion of the subject had been hastened by the refinancing scheme of the company, is planning a $85,000,000 reorganization, which means, according to a surmise by Gray, that the company plans expensive new development.

The water company takes the stand that, while it is willing to meet the cities half way, it cannot impede its own business while waiting for the cities to make up their minds whether to join in a public utilities district or not. It is admitted to be a matter where the cities must definitely decide to do something, or else let the water company go ahead.

Gray asserted that today's session was executive.

"There was plain talk," says Gray, "and we believe the subject was better threshed out in that way." Matters up for discussion were rates and the proposed abolition of the surcharge.

STRIKE BALLOT IS SENT TO 409,000 RAIL EMPLOYEES

Vote To Be Taken On Order Of Board Cutting Wages $400,000,000.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—Strike ballots on the acceptance or rejection of the recent $400,000,000 wage reduction order by the Railroad Labor Board were mailed last night to the 409,000 members of the "Big Four" brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The ballots revealed a difference of opinion among the chief executives of the organizations, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors and the Switchmen using a joint ballot, while the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen sent out a separate ballot.

TRAINMEN GIVE VIEWS.
The trainmen's ballot stated that it had been the intention of all organizations to use a joint ballot, but that this was impossible because the ballot adopted by the other organizations "did not, in our opinion, contain an impartial and unbiased recital of all involved, nor did it convey the assurance that the wishes of the men, if against working under reduced wages, would determine the question, and that they would be permitted to leave the service."

The joint ballot declared that if the membership vote was to reject the wage reductions which became effective July 1, "it is to be understood that the men would be permitted to withdraw from the service unless satisfactory settlement can be reached under the laws of the organization."

WOULD REVERSE DECISION.
The proposition which confronts our members and officers is the trainmen's ballot, "carries with it an attempt to reverse the decision of the railroad labor board on the wage reduction now in effect since July 1, when the railroad companies decided to reduce."

A. F. L. IS SILENT.
ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 29.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has decided to take no action on the proposed wage reductions, members said today, but stood ready to give aid in any way required by the railroad unions.

The council is working, as instructed by the Denver convention, on a plan to bring about "public ownership and democratic control" of the railroads, but no action was expected for several months, leaders said, as the union chiefs are occupied at the wage situation. Investigation of railroad executives' salaries is being made by the council.

Oil Field Workers Accept Wage Cuts
Acceptance by oil workers of a wage schedule of from $5 to $9 a day in place of the old one of $5 to $10, has removed the possibility of a strike in the oil fields, according to announcement today by Walter Yarrow, advisor to the union workers.

The announcement followed a conference of the men with the Shell Oil company officials and representatives of the Federal oil board and, it is said, was obtained by thirty independent companies. The agreement is to continue until September 1, 1922.

Refusal of the operators of five large companies to accept a strike in half of the field, according to Yarrow, was the reason for the announcement.

Searchers Fail To Find Missing Ship
VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 29.—Reports late yesterday afternoon from the steamship Canadian Winner, searching the seas 600 miles from the mouth of the Columbia river for the Canadian government freight steamer Canadian, stated that no trace of the missing vessel had been found.

Although the Canadian Winner, in dispatches early in the morning, reported having found lumber drifting on the seas where the importer floated in a disabled condition for more than a week, local officials of the Canadian government merchant marine still have hopes of salvaging the vessel. They point out that the lumber may have been cast adrift to lighten the vessel's load.

The Canadian Winner in a wireless message at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon reported the wind and seas rising and visibility poor.

Small Towns, Sermon Theme

Rev. Clarence Reed, pastor of the First Unitarian church, reviewed Sinclair Lewis' book, "Main Street," in his sermon yesterday morning. His subject was "The Other Side of Main Street," and he declared that there was one side of Main street that Lewis neglected to cover in his book.

He said: "Main Street" is really a great novel. Sinclair Lewis fearlessly faces many of the facts of modern life and endeavors to describe the people who live in the towns of America exactly as they are. The provincialism of the ordinary American town is one of the favorite themes of current American fiction. Sinclair Lewis calls Gopher Prairie a swamp of prejudices and fears. "Every small town has a devoted family physician who loves his profession and likes people. Dr. Kennelott is ready by day or night, in rain or blizzard, to drive to the homes of the sick, ministering alike to rich and poor. There is also a Mrs. Kennelott, who wishes to be a dramatic society, and is organizing a dramatic society of the town. She is a reformer, a poseur, a restless and unhappy woman."

There may also be met a Sam Clark who is working for a better kind of a store, who is everybody's friend; a Guy Pollock, who as a lawyer has more ability than town, and a Ralph Wagoner, who only needs to have some person give him a push in order for him to become a successful business man. In every small town lives the sanctimonious, self-righteous Mrs. Gossamer, the worthless son, as well as Juanita Haydock, the snob, who likes to speak of the large hotels in Chicago, where perhaps once she stayed for a meal.

"There is another side of 'Main Street' which, with the exception of the character of Vida Sherwin, is neglected by Sinclair Lewis in his remarkable book. The spirit of neighborliness dominates life in a small town. A person is not able to know personally the varied types of humanity in a city as he may know them in Gopher Prairie. The man who lives in an apartment in a large city may have no neighbors. Death, sickness, misfortune and poverty come to the dweller in the city and he may be absolutely alone. A person is part of humanity for better or worse if he lives in Gopher Prairie.

"It is possible for the small town to do something distinctive. Northfield, Mass., has its famous St. Olaf's church, and the town of Northfield, Minn., has its great city church and hospital. Emporia, Kas., has a newspaper that is read throughout our country. The greatness of a city or town depends not upon the number of its inhabitants, but upon the character of the people who live in it and what they do."

Universal Life Is Theme

Rev. Bernard Ruggles spoke Sunday morning at the meeting place of the First Universalist Church in Hotel Oakland, on "Realizing Universal Life." He said: "Jesus gives us definite guidance concerning this fifth factor in the science of living, which deals with the way to relate yourself to the whole; the universe. He was not subject to the limitations of his race, either religious or social. He annulled the narrow religious lines, extending the divine dispensation to the Gentiles. He stepped over their racial barriers. At every moment we see a universal soul, viewing life, time, all things, in terms of the illimitable. Whatever men may vow say to the contrary, the day will come when we shall say, 'Jesus Christ was a Universalist.'"

"Applying this attitude and you are on your way to realizing universal life. The first step is your ability to free yourself from cramping, fettering, galling chains which prejudice and partialisms forge. Freedom is not absence of loyalty to definite principles and fixed institutions. A lot of people are claiming freedom today by discarding any convictions and any support of the great movements for human betterment. They have succeeded in reducing themselves into poor, homeless waifs on the sea of aimless thought, never at rest, never at peace, never on the best terms with themselves and never tasting a lasting satisfaction or a stable success. The essence of freedom is the ability to be big enough to accept the limitations of all beliefs, all philosophies but never to accept anything which limits either your insight or your outlook."

Another step is an education in freedomism which will nullify racial prejudice out of mind and help us to see spiritually the unity of the race in God. We must come, sooner or later to world fellowship. We shall never solve the difficult problems between nations until we try to understand each other, sympathetically and intelligently.

"We come into fullest realization of our knowledge of the universe by a boundless universe but a boundless universe lives in us. The one who senses this has gained cosmic consciousness. What we call cosmic consciousness is the realization of the unity of all things, the relating of all life to God as the Universal Father and seeing each must be subject unto the Divine Will, even as Paul says Jesus said, 'that God may be glorified in all.'"

Blue Devil Theology Evil

"The great trouble with the world today is not with facts and conditions, but with theology," declared Rev. Frank M. Sisley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in a sermon last night on "The Theology of Man with the Blue Devil." He said that the "blue devil" theology is the everyday man, according to Dr. Sisley, has a theology which causes him to continually prophesy pessimism.

"The prophet, under the Jewish tree, praying out to God to take his life, was afflicted with 'blue devil' theology," he said. "He was completely discouraged. Many are afflicted with the 'blue devil' theology today. They are blue over business conditions, blue over moral and religious conditions. Preachers are talking about the hopeless future of the world, and business men are talking about the hopeless future of the world, and the world is blue over the prospect of turning the corner."

"The every day man has a 'blue devil' theology—a creed of pessimism that is prophesying calamity. This 'blue devil' theology is caused by two or three forces. One cause is a state of physical exhaustion. People who are working too long hours, or who are suffering from other cause is the nervous reaction from unparalelled prosperity. We chafe and fret under the inevitable settling back of the market. But the great cause of 'blue devil' theology is the anxiety over the drift of moral and religious things. We are under the illusion of thinking that people are living with the gospel, that the wave of immorality and the wave of immorality and the wave of immorality mean the destruction of faith and the thwarting of God's purpose. 'Blue devil' theology is rampant today. It will do a good thing if it is afflicted with the 'blue devil' theology. It will do a bad thing if it ruins the church. Persons are foolishly denouncing the church because they are 'blue.' When Dr. Frank Crane writes his article on the 'alleged four immoralities of the church' he is under the spell of a 'blue devil' theology."

"What will cure the 'blue devil' theology? It is cured by the vision of the character and power and purpose of God, and the obedience to the Divine order 'to get to work.'"

Reward of Faith Told

"By imagination, by faith, Poland was kept alive through its years of suffering. It is not the setting of life that counts so much as the belief in God and not by our trek, but by our trend."

These were declarations of Dr. Lynn T. White, speaking in the absence of Rev. Charles L. Kloss yesterday at Plymouth Congregational church from the subject: "Living by imagination." He said:

"The world conceives faith as belief in something that is not so. Faith is that faculty which makes the fourth dimension. Our lives have not only length, breadth and depth, but height—the reach of our aspiration, the things we desire. We are not at all longed to be and could not be 'worth to God.'"

"Think what might happen if we correctly used our imaginations, or our faith, on our neighbors, our lives, ourselves and our future!"

Sermon by Colored Evangelist

Rev. James McPherson, the "Black Billy Sunday," who is conducting revival meetings at St. John's Baptist church (colored), spoke yesterday on "The Supernatural in Christianity." He said, in part:

"This is the age of opportunity for the church. The message of Christianity is that Jesus Christ is the risen Christ, and is the same yesterday, today and forever. The passage of twenty centuries can make no difference to Him. If He is really alive He can prove it as satisfactory today as then. The crucial problem, therefore, is not have we trustworthiness evidence that Jesus Christ lived and died and rose again? but rather, is Jesus Christ alive?"

In the early days of the Christian church it was entirely independent of documentary evidence, for it had living evidence in the apostles and

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS OF U. S. DROP $812,000,000

Cost of Collecting Smaller Sum of $40,000,000 Increase Over Figures of 1920.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Internal revenue collections during the fiscal year 1921 decreased more than $812,000,000 as compared with 1920, while the cost of collection advanced from 25 to 38 cents for each $100, according to a preliminary statement issued last night by Commissioner Blair.

The increased cost, which amounted to about $40,000,000, he explained, was mainly due to reduced collections and increased expense in supervising regulatory laws.

Collections for 1921 totaled $4,397,900,767, against $5,407,530,251 in 1920, while income and profits taxes yielded $3,227,790,653, compared with $3,955,930,003 in 1920, and miscellaneous taxes produced $1,169,210,112 against $1,450,644,245 in 1920.

INCOME AND PROFITS.
Income and profits taxes represented 70 per cent and miscellaneous taxes 30 per cent of the receipts during 1921, compared with 73 for income and profits taxes and 27 per cent for miscellaneous taxes in 1920.

Receipts from the national prohibition act were $1,152,053, as compared with $1,619,919 collected in 1920. In addition the commissioner estimated collections made by the justice department from fines and forfeitures for violations would approximate $2,500,000.

New York, with more than $1,000,000,000, produced the most federal revenue, and Pennsylvania was second with nearly $488,000,000.

Freak Snow Storm Near San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 29.—While San Bernardino people were yesterday sweltering in a temperature of 103 degrees, vacationists in Big Bear valley, above this city, were treated to a freak snowstorm, which covered the ground to a depth of more than half an inch.

The snow followed a cold, cloudy forenoon and extended from the north side of Big Bear lake to the Palmdale lake region. On the south side of Big Bear lake a heavy rain fell. Tonight the sky was clear and the weather in the mountains much warmer. It is declared the first time of record that snow has fallen at Big Bear in August.

The mention of some horrible disease, environment is referred to as degrading, for the most part, and habit is spoken of as something to be detested. But these three things are in reality guardians of the souls of all men who are really men, he said.

"Herodias deals with the family name and the family honor," he continued. "When we have a family name to uphold we are careful of our actions, and in this way we uphold and indicate the past and find heredity a guardian of our souls."

"There are two extremes in environment the petted and pampered child brought up with a silver spoon, and the child brought up amid the darkness and despair of the slums. The real challenge of the age is the ability to rise up and beyond conditions of life that surround us. Helen Keller conquered an environment of darkness and mute surroundings."

"It is better that habit may be just as hard to break if it is a good habit as if it were bad. We experience the same difficulties of getting out of the rut in which our course is guided when we are ruled by the good as we when we are ruled by the bad."

Soothing and Healing
Doctors daily prescribe this ointment to heal skin trouble because they know it gives prompt results

"In these days of apostasy instead of seeking to keep down spiritual movements to the level of natural explanation, in this age when materialism has almost reached the miracle, the church ought rather to be impelled to pray for a more striking manifestation of the supernatural in the gifts that have been committed to the church."

The revival and healing service will continue each evening during the week. Billy will preach each evening on the subject "The Prayer Meeting in Hell" and tomorrow evening he will give his sensational sermon on "The Converted Infidel."

Guardians of Man's Soul

CHINESE ACTOR IS SUNDAY VICTIM IN S. F. TONG WAR

Secret Love Affair Hinted in Death of Oriental Of Gilded Coterie.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Tong warfare claimed another victim in Chinatown yesterday when Leong Quie Sang, Chinese actor, known as the "Julian Eltinge" of the Orient, was killed by highlanders' bullets in his Stockton-street home.

Contrary to general procedure in tong warfare, it is claimed that Sang was killed as the result of a secret love affair in which he was involved with an Oriental beauty, and that the killing was not the outcome of one of the long-standing Chinatown feuds.

The blowing of police whistles brought Detectives Barth Kelleher, J. A. Dolan and Policeman Marvin E. Dowell to the scene, where they found the actor's body lying face down on the floor of his apartment. It was found that the fusillade of bullets fired at him had taken effect. According to the police, who received their first summons from Chinese women living in the same apartment house, the appearance of the room indicated that Sang had not been able to defend himself, but had been killed in a more or less leisurely manner by his assailants.

Sang was highly popular among the "gilded youth" of Chinatown, and it is expected by the police that his killing will lead to reprisals on the part of his admirers.

NEW LEADER OF LEGION SAYS HE LIKES HIS JOB

Commander Quinn Tells of
Plans For Organization
For Coming Year.

John R. Quinn, newly-elected commander of the American Legion, Department of California, who is one of the Legion's big men, both physically and mentally, today passed through Oakland en route to his home at Delano after paying his first official visit to the headquarters of the organization which he is to head for the next year.

"I am enthusiastic about this job," he said, "because it is a big job. I have always been enthusiastic about the Legion, its aims and ambitions. Now that I am placed in a position to help it reach the goals for which it set out, I am going to devote almost my entire time to the work."

Quinn is one of California's leading stock raisers. During the war he was a captain of artillery in the 1st division and participated in the Meuse-Argonne offensives. He was known throughout his organization as "Captain John" and some even forgot all about military courtesy and called him "Big Captain John."

Captain John weighs 230 pounds and is six feet, two inches tall. He is a commanding figure in uniform out of it. At the convention in Yosemite Valley, when he was chosen as commander of the American Legion, he wore a cowboy hat, the same hat that he wears when rounding his 10,000-acre ranch at Delano.

The new Legion commander is a graduate of the University of California in 1912, and will be remembered as the picturesque yell leader who rallied the U. C. gridiron team in that year when defeat seemed almost certain and coached them to victory.

Just before he entered the officers' training camp at the Presidio, Quinn was married to Maude June of Bakersfield. They now have two girls, Jane, aged 2, and Charlotte, aged 1 1/2 months. Jane was born while her father was in France.

Quinn is third State commander of the Legion. He was preceded by David P. Barrows and Byron J. Pitts.

WALKER FINISHES

AFTER BAD SPILL

National Record Made in Twenty-Five-Mile Open
Motorcycle Race.

COTATI SPEEDWAY, Cal., Aug. 29.—Making a national record, Otto Walker, piloting a Harley-Davidson, finished first in the twenty-five-mile open professional motorcycle race yesterday, after a dangerously thrilling spill near the first quarter of the course.

In the seventh lap, Walker's tire blew out and sent his motorcycle crashing down the steepest part of the course. Walker clung desperately as his machine skidded and roared. In an instant, driver and machine were buried in a ditch at the bottom of the track. Walker crawled out, jumped to his machine, and in the following minutes, nibbled at the lead his opponents had rolled up until he crossed the line a winner, chalking up the fastest time ever made on a board track in this country.

Walker's time for the twenty-five miles (twenty laps) was 16:29. This is at the rate of forty-two seconds to the lap or 108 miles an hour. This record is faster than the record of the board track at Los Angeles, which is credited with being the swiftest course in the country.

Yesterday marked the close of the North Bay Fair season. Four professional and three amateur motorcycle races furnished an abundance of thrills for the 5000 spectators who thronged the park for the final day of the fair.

The seven events in their order of running off were as follows:
Professional (miles and out)—Ralph Magee (Harley-Davidson), first; Otto Walker (Harley-Davidson), second; Roy Artley (Indian), third; Bob Siskin (Indian), fourth.
Time—2:47. Average, 102 miles an hour.

First heat, intercity championship, five miles (four laps)—Ernest of San Francisco, first; Langley of San Jose, second; Rossi of Oakland, third; Mitchell of Oakland, fourth.
Time—4:36.

Ten-mile open professional (eight laps)—Otto Walker (Harley-Davidson), first; Ralph Hepburn (Harley-Davidson), second; Roy Artley (Indian), third; Frank Faber (Harley-Davidson), fourth.
Time—6:31.1-5.

Second heat, intercity championship, five miles (four laps)—Ernest of San Francisco, first; Langley of San Jose, second; Rossi of Oakland, third; Mitchell of Oakland, fourth.
Time—4:36.

Twenty-five mile open professional (twenty laps)—Otto Walker (Harley-Davidson), first; Ralph Hepburn (Harley-Davidson), second; Roy Artley (Indian), third; Frank Faber (Harley-Davidson), fourth.
Time—18:29.

Final heat, intercity championship, five miles (four laps)—Ernest of San Francisco, first; Langley of San Jose, second; Rossi of Oakland, third; Mitchell of Oakland, fourth.
Time—7:36.

Ten-mile consolation (professional) not having won any other professional event—Ralph Hepburn (Harley-Davidson), first; Roy Artley (Indian), second; Frank Faber (Harley-Davidson), third.

Los Angeles Men To Build Big Steamers

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—That two new passenger liners, 12,000 deadweight tons each, 500 feet long and driven by Diesel-electric motors, will be built by Los Angeles capitalists and shipping men, was announced in advices received here today.

Each ship will have two engines of 1000 horsepower, each will develop a speed of 20 miles an hour. These will be the largest, most modern and most economical vessels ever constructed. No announcement has been made regarding the service in which the vessels will be placed and there is considerable speculation among shipping men as to the intention of the southerners when the vessels are completed. It is rumored that the ships will ply between Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle.

NURSES TO HEAR LECTURE.

In the fall Mrs. Roberts will be hostess at an afternoon affair at her attractive home.

ENGAGEMENT MADE KNOWN.
Now laurels have been won by Dan Cupid in college circles with the announcement of the engagement of Miss Marion Towson, popular member of the Sigma Kappa Sorority, to Ray Leslie Parker, Los Angeles attorney.

Miss Towson is a well-known Berkeley girl, the daughter of Mrs. C. E. Towson, 2717 Parker street. She recently completed her studies at the university and is also a graduate of Snell's seminary.

News of her engagement was imparted by Miss Towson at a dinner party at the Sigma Kappa Sorority house, with Mrs. William Robert Greig as hostess and Miss Katharine Schwaner as toastmistress. Morrow is a graduate of the southern branch of the university and a member of the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity. During the war he served as a lieutenant in the navy.

No plans have been made for the wedding as yet.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Children Cry For Fletcher's
CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will soon to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good."

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late? MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

New Amsterdam surrendered to the British and became New York on this day in 1664. They still have the New Amsterdam roof garden and many of the residents are prouder of their Dutch names than they are of their reputations. Oliver Wendell Holmes born August 29, 1809. For this we would like to know, Ben Blow. How are the roads below?

The appeal of one of those mystery organizations at the University of California to have the taxes lowered on their meeting place brings up a question for consideration. Why not raise the tax on mystery, buncombe, hokum, and secrets? Surely it is a matter of luxury for a man to be all full of "hists" and "beware" and he should pay for it.

To our way of looking at it, any man who wears a police badge without visible reason or excuse should be taxed $2 a month. The college youth who belongs to a secret order should pay according to how blood-curdling is the name of the organization. "Skull and Bones" should bring in close to the limit. We would tax the men who wear badges of any kind on the public street, possessors of lodge uniforms, and anyone who makes mystic high signs in conspicuous manner. If enough of these taxes are levied it will become possible for the ordinary, commonplace and inoffensive individual to quaff his ice-cream soda without the penalty of extra payment.

MYSTERY STILL UNEXPLAINED.

With Senator Borah of Idaho insisting that Congress shall take up for consideration and action his resolution seeking the repeal of the Wilson canal tolls act, under which exemption of tolls to American coastwise ships passing through the Panama canal is denied, attention again is directed to the curious history of the abrogation, early in President Wilson's first term, of the free tolls act passed during the Taft administration. There was one maneuver of President Wilson in that memorable legislative battle which has never been explained.

While the debate in Congress was at its hottest stage, the President appeared before a joint session of Congress and read a message, which he concluded with these words:

"I ask this of you [the repeal of the Taft act] in support of the foreign policy of the administration. I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence, if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."

This appeal had a large effect upon members of Congress. The mysterious hint by the President that he was facing delicate and consequential tasks in his foreign affairs appealed to even his party enemies. For after all the President is responsible for the conduct of foreign affairs and Congress should not do anything to cause him embarrassment unless it is thoroughly informed of the nature of the questions. The intimation that there were issues which could not even be explained silenced much of the opposition to the free tolls repeal, especially among the members of the President's own party who had first chosen to stand by the O'Gorman clause in the Baltimore platform of the Democratic convention of 1912.

But to this day the President has not explained what he meant by his reference to other matters. As time has gone on the impression has grown stronger that there were no such difficulties as intimated and that President Wilson was not dealing fairly with Congress.

In the first installment of "The Life and Letters of Walter Hines Page," ambassador to Great Britain in Mr. Wilson's administration, which appears in the September number of the World's Work, there is published much from the official record that throws an interesting light on this episode. Mr. Page was anxious that the tolls exemption act should be repealed, holding that they hampered his efforts in adjusting other controversies between the United States and Great Britain. Late in June, 1913, Colonel Edward M. House reached London and Mr. Page addressed to Sir Edward Grey, then British foreign minister, a letter which for its sprightly manner of imparting information, deserves quotation:

"Dear Sir Edward:—There is an American gentleman in London the like of whom I do not know. Mr. Edward M. House is his name. He is the 'silent partner' of President Wilson—that is to say, he is the most trusted political adviser and the nearest friend of the President. He is a private citizen, a man without personal ambition, a modest, quiet, even shy fellow. He helps to make cabinets, to shape policies, to select judges and ambassadors and such like merely for the pleasure of seeing that these tasks are well done. He is suffering from over-indulgence in advising, and he has come here to rest. I can not get him far outside his hotel, for he cares to see few people. But he is very eager to meet you. I wonder if you would do me the honor to take luncheon at the Coburg Hotel with me, to meet him either on July 1, or 3 or 5—if you happen to be free. I shall have only you and Mr. House."

Sir Edward accepted this invitation of Mr. Page for July 3rd. Colonel House had brought him a special message from the President on the subject of the Panama tolls. It was to the effect that the President had been convinced the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty had been violated and that if the British foreign office would leave the matter in Mr. Wilson's hands, to be handled in his own way and in his own time, the result would be satisfactory. This Sir Edward Grey agreed, at the Coburg Hotel luncheon, to do.

Thus on July 3, 1913, just four months after his inauguration, President Wilson voluntarily agreed to the repeal of the tolls exemption in favor of American ships. Sir William Tyrrell, Sir Edward Grey's private secretary, visited the President in Washington in November, 1913, a visit of which much has been said. To him Mr. Wilson repeated the assurances Colonel House had given Sir Edward. But the original pledge of repeal was given in July, 1913, and what happened thereafter does not greatly matter.

The publication of Mr. Page's letters show the early determination of Mr. Wilson in the tolls matter; it records the method by which the British government discreetly refrained from too much public complaint against the Taft act, in order to lessen the provocation for charges that British dictation was driving the American government into action; it shows that the President's conference with the Senate foreign relations committee early in February, 1914, and his message to Congress on March 3, 1914, were studiously timed to harmonize with the political tasks of Sir Edward Grey in the British parliament. But it does not explain the mystery of the "other matters of greater delicacy and nearer consequence."

The World's Work suggests that these matters were not unrelated to the colossal tragedy which was at that moment overhanging Europe and the world. But this speculation is as unsatisfactory as it seems fanciful. The President can not afford to confess such prescience regarding the great war, which followed one year after Colonel House's luncheon at the Coburg in London; if he did he would have to face charges of the gravest and grossest crimes of neglecting to prepare America.

And nothing is vouchsafed to explain why President Wilson sent his closest political adviser to London so soon after his first inauguration to communicate his complete capitulation to the British contention; nothing to explain why he put the Democratic platform, his own utterances in the 1912 campaign, and the opinion of former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft to the effect that the exemption of American coastwise ships from the payment of canal tolls did not violate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty behind him so quickly and so completely. Nor is there any light on the nimble faculty of President Wilson to change his mind for the benefit of the British government, but never for the benefit of his own countrymen.

OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING.

As August draws to a close speculation as to the degree of depression, which the winter season normally brings, that will be visited upon the country this fall and winter begins. There are some pessimists, as usual, but the prevailing note is optimism and hopefulness. Indications are noticeable throughout the country that business and industry is taking a definite turn for the better and that instead of the usual seasonal depression there should be an upward movement all along the line.

One of the strongest reasons for this outlook is the long period of curtailed buying which has prevailed so long that there must be an end to it. Another fundamental condition is the readjustment of the prices of basic commodities to pre-war or nearly pre-war levels.

Petroleum products, with the exception of gasoline, already have about reached normal status. Rubber and cotton are in the same position. The steel and iron industry, which has been slower than other basic industries in adjusting itself to the unavoidable, has been lowering prices steadily for several months and the present price level, which is still receding, makes practicable the resumption of the manufacture of thousands of articles, such as tools, machines, hardware, building and railroad supplies, on a cost basis which will enable the finished product to be sold at significantly cheaper prices. Railroads have already begun to place large orders for repair of rolling stock and for new equipment. The building industry also will be quick to take advantage of normal prices in the iron and steel industry.

Of special interest to the West is the larger degree of optimism pervading the wool market in Boston and New York, and the favorable developments in the hide and leather business during the last thirty days. The Tribune referred a few days ago to the marked revival of the lumber milling business in the Pacific Northwest. Reports from the Middle West show that the wheat growers are sending their grain to the market as fast as it can be transported, a reversal of last year's tactics of holding it in granaries for a higher price.

These and many other tendencies in industry and the markets are signs that the depression of last spring and this summer, not specially felt in California and particularly in the Eastbay district, is about to be succeeded by a spirited revival of business on a normal basis and that the climatic handicaps of winter will have a smaller effect upon the movement than is usually noted.

The Greek army campaigning against the Turks now seem to be able to accomplish any task they undertake. But they will be up against the impossible when they essay the collection of indemnities.

Persons who write books on "The Next War" are probably discouraged over any prospect of success for the proposed conference on the limitations of armaments.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Richmond Record-Herald tells how different it is from what it used to be: "The young man who used to rig up a vineyard cottage and ask his best girl to become queen of it, now has a son who proposes in this manner: 'I have a flivver and seven gallons of gasoline, will you be mine?' And the divorce follows just as soon as the gas is used up."

The Medford Mail Tribune suggests a drastic check for the crime wave: "The present wave of crime would be halted in three days by hanging all citizens caught at it, irrespective of the nature of the offense, be it sucking eggs or letting daylight into a sweetie with a pearl handled .45. Such a course would be a trifle annoying for the first 100,000, but as the news circulated around, results would be noticeable."

The old house on the Lil Boggs ranch northwest of town, in which Bill Thompson has been living this summer, burned to the ground early Tuesday morning. Mr. Thompson had lighted his coal oil stove and had gone to the stable to feed his horse. When he started back he discovered the house in flames. He broke in a window and saved his shotgun—Lakeport Bee.

The Stockton Record corrects a statement as to gender: "It is a dreadful thing to meet an old friend after many years of separation. He looks old to you and you are nearly dead certain he thinks you look as old as he does. But perhaps this should be made feminine and the he changed to she to tell the story correctly."

The San Bernardino Sun expresses its surprise: "A close friend of Woodrow Wilson, in collaboration with the former president, is preparing a history of the Wilson administration. We should think they would prefer to keep it dark."

Somebody gets a rise out of Editor Leak of the Woodland Democrat: "When Republicans want to be facetious at the expense of the Democrats they revamp the old story of the Democrat who is still voting for Jackson. It is better to vote for Jackson dead than a small-bore opportunist living."

THE AGE OF SILK.

The age of silk, like the age of chivalry, has gone. The age of linen, wool and cotton has succeeded. "Pieraphaellite Percy," habited in silk but one brief year ago, the cynosure of every eye, the observed of all observers, as he strode complacently along, is gone, leaving behind him the grateful fragrance of his perfumed pride and pulchritude.

Back on the farm, away from harm, is Percy nowadays—far from perils that lurk in silks and satins. Hands on plow-handles, he pauses now and then at end of a furrow to meditate with sighs upon the days, now far away, when, beautiful as Adonis in silk apparel, he beamed upon the sight of maidens fair and matrons none too sedate.

Denim serves Percy now. Right glad is he to wear the once condemned cotton. Like some first love, loyal even unto death, suffering all things, enduring all things, democratic denim welcomes Percy back with open arms and open collar. Crying plaintively as Adam:

Let me be your servant, Though I look old, yet I am strong and lusty, denim, fond and faithful, once more is content to serve. Aesthetic Algernon, radiant as some rainbow and as vari-colored, willing maidens' hearts with charm compelling, is gone, vanished into nothingness. Scythia in hand, Algonquin stands now like Ruth amid the alien corn, wistfully looking back upon the days when life and love were one sweet symphony and silk or satin shirts were easy to be had as wheat now is hard to stack or corn to shuck.

Back on the farm, away from harm, is artistic Algernon, substituting, as he binds the grain or locks the sunshine in the golden sheaf, a manly tread for

The minding step Of a demure that set maidens' hearts aflutter in other days.

"And thereby hangs a tale," as the melancholy Jacques would say.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Charming Pollock's Broadway sensation

about YOUR HEALTH

Why Injured Nerves

Are Often Slow in Recovery

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"We have the power to move our muscles at will, and all our skin surfaces possess sensation. To our nerves we owe the power to move and to feel."

There are two kinds of nerves, motor nerves and sensory nerves. Usually both movement and sensation fibers are found in the same nerve. Then it is called a "mixed nerve."

Every part of the body is supplied with nerves. Just as the telephone system covers an entire city, reaching into every store and factory and house, so the nervous system supplies the hands and feet, the trunk, limbs and head. No part or feature is without this equipment.

In order to have motion and perfect control of the movements, there must be no interference with the nerve supply. To have normal sensation the nerves must function normally.

When a nerve is cut off or damaged there is immediate trouble. For instance, there is a nerve running along the bone of the upper arm called the "radial nerve," or the "musculo-spiral nerve." It goes to the muscles of the back of the forearm, to the wrist, fingers and thumb. Its purpose is to supply all the muscles which straighten the hand and fingers.

If this nerve is cut, power to lift the wrist and to straighten the fingers is gone. If the arm is lifted the hand falls—there is no action of the muscles which should hold it. This particular loss of function is called "wrist drop."

When any one of the mixed nerves is cut, all the muscles it supplies are paralyzed. Likewise, there is loss of the sense of feeling in the same region.

Unfortunately, the trouble does not end with the paralysis of motion and sensation. From lack of use the muscles wither. Gradually all the muscle tissue disappears, and that part of the body loses its normal form.

The skin becomes red and shiny. It loses its natural elasticity and firmness. Ulcers may form and the joints become stiff.

The difficulty about nerve injuries is the slowness of recovery. No part of the body is more readily injured or more slowly healed. If the muscles of the face are involved the features may be so changed as almost to make the victim unrecognizable. The facial expression is gone.

In a nerve injury the outcome of the case depends on the degree of the injury. It is more hopeful if the nerve is only partially severed. There may be left enough fibers to carry on the normal function.

Massage and electricity may do much to help give relief. It must be remembered, however, that it will take a long time. Patience and perseverance will be rewarded in many cases.

Operations are performed to restore the parts. Sometimes the nerve can be spliced and ultimately resume its action. In other cases a neighboring nerve may be utilized, and by splicing it to the injured nerve some degree of usefulness may be restored.

MOTOR INDUSTRY IS ON UP TREND; BUSINESS GOOD

Trade Conditions in Various Sections Are Told By Correspondents.

By Consolidated Press.

Special to TRIBUNE.

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—Although there have been some trade recessions in this territory, the motor industry is on the up trend and business progress in general has been maintained. Bank clearings here for the last week were one hundred and five million dollars as compared with one hundred and thirty million for the corresponding week in 1920, but in view of the lowered scale of prices, this is taken to indicate a decided increase in comparative volume of business. Dealers in clearing house banks are up eight million dollars and borrowings from the federal reserve are at the lowest point since April, 1919.

The difficulty of most manufacturers, however, lies not in securing money, but in getting orders for goods. A few factories outside the motor field find the margin between cost and sales price so narrow as to be almost unnoticeable. One lumber manufacturer declared today: "It is getting so my customers treat me like an approaching mendicant." Automobile manufacturing continues the bright spot in the situation, and activity has been accelerated. This week the price on Hudson, Essex and King cars. The Pere Marquette Railroad handled 1,755 carloads of automobiles from Detroit and Flint in the last two weeks, which compares favorably with peak times in 1920.

200 NEW DWELLINGS.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29.—W. H. Pitts, vice-president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce housing corporation, stated today that within two months work will be started on more than 200 new dwellings. The corporation has applications for assistance in erecting five hundred homes. The Pittsburgh school board is receiving bids on five school buildings and in one day fifty-five were sold in a single plan for homes being offered by a local real estate firm.

WOULD OPERATE PLANTS.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29.—Manufacturers of this section are flooding Congress with urgent appeals that the federal government should authorize legislation will be passed at the earliest possible moment in the hope that orders from the railroads for material and supplies will enable them to operate their plants at least on part time and hence their working forces intact. It is also hoped that the program of repair and maintenance work of the carriers will reduce the number of unemployed in this territory.

CARRY CAPACITY LOADS.

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—The "Jitney" service between Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids has been carrying capacity loads of passengers since the service started this week. It is believed that the "Jitney" service is carrying capacity loads of passengers in the country. The fare to Lansing is $3.25 as compared with $3.30 on the railroad and the running time is within 20 minutes of the fastest Detroit-Grand Rapids train. It is maintained.

SEEK LOW FIGURES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Garment manufacturers today continued to seek low prices for the new season. A letter alleged to have been distributed by the Retail Research Association, an organization including 13 large department stores in various sections of the country. This letter was in the hands of manufacturers as outlining a plan to inform members of the association of any financial difficulties to buy goods at low figures. The Associated Dress Industries of America and United Tailors League discussed today the advisability of refusing to supply samples to employees of the retailers' association.

NEWS OF STYLES

By Consolidated Press.

Special to TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The journey from the berth to the dressing room of a Pullman car usually is one upon which women travelers look with annoyance. That annoyance has been appreciably mitigated by the development of the new Pullman robe or negligee. Some of these are most attractive. One novelty in this line is of black crepe de chine, lined in French blue crepe de chine, with wide shirred decorative bands of red and gold. It is furnished with a scarf collar and a hood of which is arranged as a hood so that after the scarf has been wound around the neck the hood can be easily slipped over the hair covered by a night on a Pullman pillow.

The vogue for veils and hair trimmings on fall millinery has been intensified by the new styles made to accompany the soft black sports hats, which otherwise are scantily trimmed. These veils are oval in shape about two feet long and eight inches wide with the wide tapering ends which fall from the sides and are transformed in small or large patterns. They are worn across the crown and draped over the brim with a curtain for the eyes while the ends are gathered in and tucked under the crown of the hat.

Contrasting color effects are occasionally formed by the embroidery. One has only to make a round of the hat to see the effect of the new style to become convinced of the place the brown shades are to have in fall fashions. One charming youthful frock is of brown red canton crepe with a wide band of open work trimming, the color of which is represented by the embroidery. Even the evening gowns have adopted the bronze brown shades, especially in patterned robes, which are light up better than most of the brown for evening wear.

ANNOUNCEMENT of a campaign committee executive board, including three Eshelby citizens and issuance of a final amended draft of the proposed state water power constitutional amendment marked the development of the project to invoke the initiative in state water power development today. The executive committee has opened a headquarters office in the First National Bank building in San Francisco.

The Eshelby members named on the executive committee for the campaign which is about to launch itself after initiative signatures, are Mrs. Anna L. Saylor of Berkeley, state assemblyman William J. Locke, city attorney of Alameda, who is secretary of the California League of Municipalities and Mayor Louis Bartlett of Berkeley.

The most important change made in the draft for the constitutional amendment is the work of Clyde L. Seavey and Robert L. Shinn, manager and attorney respectively of Sacramento, who have secured the use of normal local supplies of irrigation districts and communities both as to water power and electric energy. The section reads:

"The board shall equally entitle those who supply water or electric energy to political subdivisions near the source of supply to the extent of their reasonable needs, preference to those more remote."

The final text also includes a section allowing municipalities to proceed in the event of a declaration of war if they desire. This section was submitted by Clyde L. Seavey, manager and Robert L. Shinn, attorney of Sacramento, who objected to the preliminary draft on this ground. After the acceptance of the amendment they each publicly endorsed the measure, the committee said.

CALIFORNIA FARMS HIGHLY MOTORIZED.

Indication of the extent to which California agriculture has adopted power machinery, not to mention the use of automobiles, is given in a census report issued today which shows this state near the head of the column in modern farm development.

California was sixth in the union in the point of motor trucks used on farms and fifth in the point of tractors and this in the face of the fact that the state has only 10,000 regular farms, 117,670 at the time of the census, was from 40,000 to 100,000 fewer than any of the state exceeding her figures.

It is shown that of 5000 of the farms reporting had 6416 motor trucks and 1,181 farms reporting had 13,822 tractors.

Of the 10,000 of automobiles 62,433 farms reported possession of 71,513 machines.

On the basis of other modernizing features, California's farms reported telephones, 65,223 had water piped into farm houses and 36,419 enjoyed gas or electric light service or both.

CANADIAN SHINGLES CROWD U. S. MARKET.

American shingles are being crowded out of the domestic market by the Canadian manufacture, the Senate Finance committee was informed today by a delegation of shingle manufacturers headed by E. J. Jones, president of the American Shingle Manufacturers Association, who are operating at a Washington despatch. Shingle mills in British Columbia are operating at full capacity. The witnesses said that while the factories in the northwestern United States are shut down, Case and Bergstrom recommended that the duty of 30 cents per 1000 shingles now carried in the Fordney tariff be increased. Sixty cents per thousand, they said, would be "very moderate" while 51 per thousand "would be reasonable."

RAILWAYS BARE METHOD OF INCOME INCREASE.

The method of income increase by the association of Railway Executives an analysis of railroad operations for the first six months of the year which shows that the industry has been "economical" in the creation of the executive, increased net earnings as compared with 1920 were due largely to a decrease in expenses "such as fuel, repairs and maintenance" which were to "revive toward normal."

This was especially noteworthy in May and June, it is pointed out. The total of these economies, 65 percent of $14,745,795 in June from reduction in operating expenses and 50 per cent $34,256,683 from deferring of maintenance, both of right of way and equipment, was $49,002,478.

So far this year, however, the saving in the amount of material used, and fewer bad order cars and engines were put in condition.

The total number of cars loaded with revenue freight during the first seven months of 1921 ended July 31 was 1,145,749, or 1.6 percent more than during the same period of 1920 or 1,126,811 or 1.64 percent. The totals were 24,383,405 in 1920 and 22,288,214 in 1921, 8.58 percent more.

Comparing the month of June with the same month of 1920, the net operating income increased $66,000 and this was in the face of a decrease in total revenues of $2,214,500. Add these two figures together, it appears that there was a net saving of nearly $100,000,000 between the two months, and a further

SITE FOR DURANT
PLANT CREATED AN INDUSTRIAL ZONECouncil Removes Last Legal Obstacle To Construction
Of Motor Factory.

The plant of the Durant Motors Company at 103th avenue was taken out of the residential zone and created an industrial district through final passage of an ordinance by the city council this morning. This is the second and last action necessary to give this industry official sanction for proceeding. The first council action was the recent granting of a spur track along 103th avenue. The council appropriated $2425 for four automobiles for the street department, $100 for a good government convention in October, and $499 for fifty copies of the Oakland city directory.

City Auditor Harry Williams, with full analysis of final figures for last year, was tendered the council showing that the city had the 1920-21 fiscal year, ended June 30. This balance goes into the new fiscal year by the municipal board. A report of the municipal board shows that $1319.70 was spent during July. The board earned $362.50 through the sale of wood cut by indigent men in Treble Glen.

Plans for $350,000 Home Completed
By College Women's Club at Berkeley

Work of Raising Funds for Five-Story Structure
Is Begun

BERKELEY, Aug. 29.—Plans for a $350,000 home, which will serve as a model of its kind in the west, have been completed by the College Women's Club of Berkeley.

Bancroft way and College avenue, the site of the present temporary quarters of the club, will afford the location for the proposed new building. Modeled after the famous College Women's Club in Washington, D. C., the structure, as designed by Walter Steiberg, well-known Berkeley architect, will be the only building of its kind in northern California.

It will contain a theater with seating capacity for 600 persons, a smaller auditorium, swimming pool, restaurant and tea room. The proposed clubhouse will also afford accommodations for 150 guests in airy, attractive rooms.

FIVE-STORY STRUCTURE. The proposed building will be five stories in height, the ground floor to contain a restaurant, theater and two shops. On the second floor will be an auditorium and committee rooms, while the third and fourth will be devoted to sleeping quarters equipped with private baths and kitchenettes. The fifth floor will be an outdoor arrangement with sleeping-porch rooms. An inner court will add to the attraction of the building, which will be of reinforced concrete of unusual and attractive design. A swimming pool is also planned to completely modernize the clubhouse.

The sale of bonds among members, to raise funds for the building, is now being undertaken by the club. After the members have subscribed the sale will be opened to the public.

MRS. COOLIDGE LEADS. Mrs. D. M. Coolidge, as chairman of the building committee, is directing the campaign, while her assistants are Mrs. Howard M. Legett, Mrs. Louis Herrmann, Miss Lillian Bridgman, Miss Mary B. Chays, Miss Mary E. Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mrs. F. A. Warner, Mrs. C. L. Barham, Mrs. George Colby.

Speaking of the undertaking, Mrs. Coolidge says:

"While working in the fields I was hitched up to a plow with twenty other prisoners. We dragged the plow through the fields for eighteen hours a day. We were only allowed a pint of water a day, which had to last us during our working hours. During the time we were hitched up to a plow, we were not allowed to eat. The only time my body got wet was when it rained."

"For the last year Post has made his home in Los Angeles. He came to this city a month ago. When he came to this city, he was a nurse. He practiced medicine for a short time before his arrest. Judge Smith referred his case to the probation officer."

HORROR OF PRISON
CAMP IS DEFENSE

Horror committed in the prison camps were related by A. V. Post, a trained nurse, who was held a prisoner for fifty-two months. Post is charged by the State Medical Board with practicing medicine without a license.

In entering a plea of guilty to the charge, he asked Judge Mortimer Smith that he be placed on probation.

"A man is not responsible for what he goes through," said Post. "I was in England for fifty-two months, as I did while in the German prison camps," said Post.

Post was in England at the outbreak of the war and enlisted with the Royal Highlanders. In the early part of 1914 he was captured by the Germans and held a prisoner until forty days after the armistice was signed.

PRISON HORRORS TOLD. Part of his story, which he related in the city prison this morning, follows:

"The one thing I try to do is to forget what I suffered during the war. When I was first taken prisoner, I refused to reveal anything pertaining to the British army. Because I refused to talk I was stripped naked and hanged to a post by my thumbs for forty-eight hours with a cat-and-nine-tail because I refused to cut human bodies, which were brought back from the front and used in making soap."

"I was first a prisoner of war. I was taken to a camp where I was held for a long time. I was not allowed to see my family. I was not allowed to see my friends. I was not allowed to see my country. I was not allowed to see my home. I was not allowed to see my life. I was not allowed to see my death."

"For the last year Post has made his home in Los Angeles. He came to this city a month ago. When he came to this city, he was a nurse. He practiced medicine for a short time before his arrest. Judge Smith referred his case to the probation officer."

SHIPYARD MEN
LEAD IN NIGHT
SCHOOL CLASSES'Occupational Study' Reports
Show Workers in Many Industries.

An "occupational study" of the American classes of the Oakland public schools, adjuncts to the night schools, show that shipyard workers led the list of students, sending 149, while workers for the Gas and Electric company came second with 17. Students proved that men in nearly every line of industry are represented.

The various nationalities in the schools have also been tabulated. The following is the first report on the scope of the public schools since opening day:

Tompkins school alone has a group of 61 students of 3 nationalities who have remained in the school for one year. The group was made up of Italians, Mexicans, Spanish, Japanese, Guatemaltecos, Portuguese, Russians, San Salvadorans and Nicaraguans. The persistence of these students in remaining for a full year of training argues good material for future citizenship, according to the school authorities.

During the past term an occupational study revealed the fact that in a certain group of students the following vocations were represented: Shipyard, 149; Pacific Gas and Electric, 17; Southern Pacific, 13; Japanese laundry, 7; Union Construction company, 6; Sunset Lumber company, 4; American Can company, 3; two students each came from the following occupations: cigar factory, window washing, Chinese laundry, hotel work, railroad; one student each came from the following employment: cotton mills, Italian bank, Key Route, Standard Gas company, Pacific Tank and Pipe company, Russian priesthood and the Oakland street department.

Charges Are Denied
By Restaurant Man

George Pappas, arrested Saturday on a charge of violating the state pure food laws by having in his possession a spoiled chicken and by failing to observe the sanitary regulations in his restaurant at 2129 Shattuck avenue, Berkeley, was arraigned before Judge Harry W. Puffer this morning. He pleaded not guilty and waived a jury trial. Judge Puffer set the trial for Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Pappas declared today he had recently purchased the restaurant and was unaware of conditions. He said the breaches of the law complained of were due to the negligence of the former owner. He said the chicken found in the refrigerator by State Food Inspector Robert G. Wray was a piece of a piece of ice where it evidently had been for some time, and he did not know it was there.

GIRL'S CLAIM TO
MORRISON ESTATE
WILL BE FOUGHTAttorneys Say Dead Merchant
Had Fear of Making Any Will.

"Leon Morrison was afraid to make a will because he had a superstition that it would hasten his death."

This is a declaration of John Crabbe, manager for the late clothing and haberdashery stores on Broadway and Washington street, is being claimed by Miss Marion Scott, formerly Morrison's cashier, and who claims the aged man proposed marriage to her on his death bed and when she refused him showed her a will leaving everything to her. No will has been found. Several days ago Miss Scott filed an alleged copy of the will in her fight for the dead man's wealth, claiming the original had been destroyed.

Donahue and Hyman, attorneys for the merchant, who died last June and who conducted clothing and haberdashery stores on Broadway and Washington street, is being claimed by Miss Marion Scott, formerly Morrison's cashier, and who claims the aged man proposed marriage to her on his death bed and when she refused him showed her a will leaving everything to her. No will has been found. Several days ago Miss Scott filed an alleged copy of the will in her fight for the dead man's wealth, claiming the original had been destroyed.

The fact that Morrison dreaded to make a will is to be one of the arguments advanced by Dunn, White and Alken, attorneys for Public Administrator John A. Hill, who is administering the estate, in opposition to Miss Scott's claim. It is declared Morrison believed that if he made a will he then would have made at least partial preparation for death and that this fact would accelerate his demise. They also point to the fact brought forward by Crabbe that Morrison left Morrison's employ a year before his death, following a dispute as to a desired raise in wages, refusing even to remain until her employer could secure a successor, and that Morrison felt so bitter toward her he would have been exceedingly unlikely to leave her his fortune. Hill and his attorneys declare they will also have a number of other sensational disclosures to make in their attempt to disprove that was no will and combat Miss Scott's effort to secure the estate.

Death to Rats
Is Slogan of
U. S. Inspector

Another visit to inspect the Oakland waterfront situation will be made tomorrow by Dr. William Harrison, government rodent expert, who is assisting the Oakland health department in treating the situation on the garbage dump.

Dr. Harrison asserts, however, that his main task is in controlling the squirrel pest in Alameda as well as other counties as it is believed that the more active squirrels are greater disease carriers than the rats and spread over a larger area.

During the Harrison visit an attempt will be made to coordinate the work of the city, county, state and government officials to eliminate the rodent through a big campaign. The same time it is admitted that in this year of economy neither the city nor the government have much money to work with, so the task will be out according to available appropriations for the coming year.

LEGAL BATTLE IS WAGED OVER
HAMON PICTURE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—Clara Smith Hamon's picture, "Fate," is the subject of a legal battle in superior court here today.

John Gorman, who directed the picture, and who, a few days ago, married its star, Clara Hamon, today applied for an injunction to prohibit W. E. Weathers from completing mechanical details preliminary to its release.

Gorman asserts that Weathers, who financed the undertaking, is having the sub-titles and prints of the picture made by incompetents and that Weathers has refused to allow Gorman to see the finished product.

Gorman claims to have a ten per cent interest in the production. Many residents of Ardmore, Okla., are said to have placed their money in Clara's film venture.
